
Partnering for Success

In order for community revitalization to be truly successful in Sweet Home, it is critical that partnerships and collaborations are the vehicles used to move the community's vision for downtown forward. Downtown revitalization should be a community-wide effort. The more groups and people involved in the process, the more pride and ownership will be evident in the results.

The work of the ODDA Resource Team serves as a springboard for community discussion as to the future of downtown and how revitalization efforts should move forward. Sweet Home is full of opportunities to create a more attractive and livable community that serves as a gathering place, commercial center, hometown and visitor destination. Success can only come about by building consensus, becoming champions for the community's vision of downtown, then moving forward with implementation in an organized and cohesive way.

"To bring an idea to life, the community must get behind it."
